

Dear IUBMB members,

We are pleased to share that the 11th International Symposium on Autophagy will take place from November 16 to 20, 2025, in Lorne, Victoria, Australia.

This symposium will showcase the latest breakthroughs in autophagy research, featuring presentations from leading international and local experts. Attendees will hear about diverse techniques used to study this critical process and how these approaches are providing new insights into autophagy's role in human health and disease.

For further details, please visit our website (<https://www.isa11.org/>). The symposium will be immediately followed by the Australian Ubiquitin Summit (<https://www.lorneubiquitin.org/>), with an overlapping day between the two events.

We hope to see you in Lorne this November for what promises to be a world-class scientific gathering.

Best regards,

The 11th ISA Committee

--

Sincerely,

The IUBMB

Follow us: Twitter | Instagram | Facebook | LinkedIn

Subscribe to our monthly newsletter