

Dear FAOBMB Member Societies and Affiliated Organisations,

Applications are now open for the Young Scientist Programme 2027 (YSP2027)!

As part of the 18th FAOBMB Congress and IM-MSBMB51, we are pleased to invite young scientists from FAOBMB Member Societies and Affiliated Organisations to apply for YSP2027, which will be held at Sunway University and Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia from 21–23 August 2027 preceding the FAOBMB Congress.

YSP2027 is intended for PhD students and early-career scientists who are actively involved in research in biochemistry, molecular biology, and related disciplines.

The programme will provide young scientists with an opportunity to:

- Present and discuss their research;
- Interact and network with fellow young scientists from across the FAOBMB region;
- Engage with established researchers; and
- Participate in the scientific programme of the FAOBMB Congress.

Application deadline: 15 January 2027 (GMT+8, Malaysian Standard Time)

Full details on eligibility, application requirements and submission procedures are available here:

We look forward to welcoming young scientists from across the FAOBMB region to Malaysia and providing them with a valuable platform for scientific exchange, networking and collaboration.

Thank you for your continued support in promoting opportunities for the next generation of scientists in our region.

Warm regards,

Hwang Jung Shan, PhD

YSP Chair
